

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A cellular phone includes a radio circuit block, and a control block including a CPU for controlling operations of the cellular phone and treating data for the cellular phone. The 5 control block retains an interrupt signal when the radio circuit block receives a radio signal, and delivers the interrupt signal to the CPU after completion of the receipt of the radio signal by the radio circuit block.